We process your personal data only on the territory of the European Union or the European Economic Area. However, some of our partners that we pass on your personal data may be from third countries. However, we always ensure that your data is passed on to our partners in these countries in accordance with legal regulations in the field of personal data protection, so we only cooperate with partners from countries providing an adequate level of protection, based on decisions of the European Commission, partners involved in the EU - US program Privacy Shield or partners who provide other appropriate guarantees for transfer. With McDermott Group companies, we have concluded a contract that includes standardized contractual clauses approved by the European Commission.

4. FOR HOW LONG WE WILL PROCESS YOUR PERSONAL DATA

We will process your personal data only for the time necessary to meet the above-mentioned purposes for which it was collected - the provision of services and products, the completion of required transactions, or other essential purposes such as compliance with our legal obligations, dispute resolution and legal enforcement of our agreements. These needs may vary for different types of data in the context of different products and services and therefore the actual retention time may vary significantly. The criteria for determining the retention period include:

- How long is personal data needed to provide products / services and to ensure our company operates? This includes activities such as maintaining and improving the performance of these products / services, maintaining the security of our systems, and maintaining appropriate business and financial records. This is a generally valid rule, which is in most cases the basis for determining the retention time.
- Will you provide us with your data with the expectation that we will keep it until you explicitly want to delete it? If so, we will keep them for this time.
- Are these personal data sensitive? If so, it is generally advisable to use a shortened retention period.
- Have we introduced and announced a specific retention time for a particular type of data? If so, we will never go beyond it.
- Did you agree to an extension of the retention period? If so, we will keep the data in accordance with your consent.
- Do we have legal, contractual or similar obligations to store data? Examples include laws governing mandatory data retention, government regulations to store data related to the investigation or data that must be kept for the purposes of litigation.

5. HOW WE SECURE PERSONAL DATA

We are aware that ensuring security of personal data so as to prevent their misuse is our important duty towards you. That is why we strive to efficiently use the best possible security measures to prevent misuse or other unauthorised interference with your personal data. As part of our activities, we will do everything we can to prevent such a security incident, especially we will train all of our employees who come into contact with your personal information on the subject of personal data protection, we will accept and familiarize employees with internal corporate regulations governing the protection of your personal data and we will always use only the appropriate solutions to ensure our processing, such as data encryption, complex passwords and the most appropriate software.

However, if, despite our best efforts, a security incident occurs and this incident could involve a high risk to your rights and freedoms, we will promptly inform you of such facts through the provided email address and publication of such information on our website, including all the necessary details.

We have adopted the following measures to secure your personal data:

- Organisational security. We place emphasis on securing your personal data against risks associated with the human factor, in particular:

  - We have adopted and maintain standardised processes related to the handling of your personal data.
- Technical measures. We have put in place important technical measures to ensure the security of your personal data, in particular:
- Access to systems containing personal data only under the password;
  - Regular maintenance of the devices on which the data will be stored;
  - Ensuring protection by antivirus, firewall, means to prevent unauthorized persons from accessing personal data and means of processing;
  - Means to prevent the unauthorized reading, creation, copying, transmission, modification, deletion or other processing of personal data.

6. WHAT RIGHTS YOU HAVE IN RELATION TO THE COLLECTED INFORMATION AND HOW YOU SHOULD EXERCISE THEM

You have the following rights in relation to our processing of your personal data:

- a) right of access to personal data;
- b) right to rectification;
- c) right to erasure ('right to be forgotten');
- d) right to restriction of data processing;
- e) right to data portability;
- f) right to object to processing; and
- g) right to file a complaint with respect to personal data processing.

Your rights are explained below so that you can get a better idea of their contents.

The right of access means that you can ask us at any time to confirm whether or not personal data concerning you are being processed and, if they are, you have the right to access the data and to information for what purposes, to what extent and to whom they are disclosed, for how long we will process them, whether you have the right to rectification, erasure, restriction of processing or to object; from which source we obtained the personal data, and whether automated decision-making, including any profiling, occurs on the basis of processing of your personal data. You also have the right to obtain a copy of your personal details, with the first provision being free of charge, and we can then request a reasonable reimbursement of administrative costs of CZK 1000.

The right to rectification means that you may request us at any time to rectify or supplement your personal data if they are inaccurate or incomplete.
